

Onboarding your sales agents

A step-by-step guide for a new client admin: how to bring your sales reps into the Sales Coach, give them access, and get them running the browser extension on their own conversations.

Who this is for: the person who set up your company's Sales Coach account (the admin). Time: about 5 minutes for you, plus a minute per agent for them to install the extension. The short version: create your account → add each agent by email → they accept the invite → you give them the Staff role → they install the extension and sign in.

Before you start: your admin account

Your company's Sales Coach account is created once, by whoever redeems your access key:

0 Redeem your access key

Go to elostate.com/redeem, enter the access key ELOSTATE gave you, and confirm it shows Sales Coach. Then enter your Company name, email, and a password (a name is optional). This creates your company and makes you its admin. You only do this once — your agents do not each need a key; you invite them (below).

Add your sales agents

1 Open the Team page

Sign in at elostate.com, then go to Sales Coach → Team (</dashboard/sales-coach/team>). This page is admin-only — it's where you grant and manage who uses the Sales Coach.

2 Invite each agent by email

Click + Add member. In the Invite member dialog:

- Enter the agent's work email.
- Pick a Role. For a sales rep, choose Member. (This is their company-wide role. Only a company admin can invite someone as CEO/COO.)
- Click Create invitation. This generates a unique, expiring invite link.

3Send the invite link

The system does not auto-send email — you deliver the link so it comes from a real, trusted address. After the invite is created you get two options:

- Send by email — opens your own mail app with the agent's address, subject, and link already filled in. Just hit send.
- Copy link — copies the invite URL (`elostate.com/invite/<code>`) so you can paste it into Slack, a DM, or a text.

Click Invite another to add more agents, or Done when finished. Invite links expire in about two weeks; you can revoke or reissue one from the Team page.

4Your agent activates their account

When the agent opens the invite link, they'll:

- New to ELOSTATE: enter their email + a password (at least 6 characters), optionally their name, and click Create account & accept.
- Already have an ELOSTATE login on that email: choose Sign in instead, then Sign in & accept.

On accept, they're attached to your company and land in the dashboard. (If their email provider requires confirmation, they confirm via the email link, then reopen the invite.)

5Give each agent the Sales Coach role

Back on Sales Coach → Team, each agent now appears in the roster. On their row, tap the role button:

- Staff — can use the Sales Coach (this is what a rep needs).
- Admin — can also manage the team and roles.
- — (dash) — removes Sales Coach access.

It saves immediately. This step is required: being a company member is not enough — an agent must be set to Staff (or Admin) here before the extension will work for them.

Two roles, kept separate (why there are two)

The Elostate role (Member / Lead / CEO / COO) is a company-wide access level set at invite time. The Sales Coach role (Staff / Admin) is set on the Team page and controls the coach specifically. They're independent on purpose — a company admin is not automatically a coaching user, and vice-versa. For a normal rep: invite as Member, then assign Staff.

Your agents: install the extension & sign in

Once an agent has an account with the Staff role, they install the browser extension. Send them to elostate.com/extension/download-sales — it has these five steps (about a minute):

#	Step	What they do
1	Download & unzip	Click Download the extension , then unzip it into a folder they'll keep (e.g. <code>Documents/sales-coach-extension</code>). Don't delete the folder — the browser loads from it.
2	Open the extensions page	Go to <code>chrome://extensions</code> (Chrome/Brave) or <code>edge://extensions</code> (Edge).
3	Turn on Developer mode	Flip the Developer mode switch, top-right.
4	Load unpacked	Click Load unpacked and select the unzipped folder (the one with <code>manifest.json</code>). The Sales Coach icon appears in the toolbar.
5	Pin it & sign in	Pin Sales Coach (puzzle-piece icon), open any conversation (Gmail, WhatsApp Web, LinkedIn, Slack...), click the Sales Coach icon, then Sign in — it connects to their workspace in one click.

A one-click Chrome Web Store install is coming; until then this download-and-load takes about a minute. Works in Chrome, Edge, and Brave.

If an agent gets stuck

- "Your plan doesn't include it" on a tool → they haven't been given access. Assign them Staff on the Team page (Step 5).
- Panel didn't appear? It doesn't open on its own — click the Sales Coach toolbar icon. It also can't open on browser system pages (`chrome://`), the Web Store, or PDFs — try a normal website.
- Asked to sign in again / "session expired"? Click Sign in in the panel again and finish on the connect page — it hands the session back to the extension.
- "Couldn't reach <host>"? Make sure they're on the official web address, not a preview link. If your team runs a custom address, they can clear it or point the extension at the right one.
